The Northern Middlesex County Regional Domestic Violence Response Team is made up of a group of community volunteers who are trained to respond to calls from the Edison Police Department, during the time of a domestic violence incident. The advocate would meet with the victim and provide support, information, court prep, referrals and services and also go over a safety plan that would be beneficial to the victim and their families. All information is confidential.

The team is accepting applications for volunteers. If interested in volunteering, please call 732-248-7375 or 732-572-7220 and leave a clear and detailed message with your name and phone number. Also see our ad on the Edison TV channel.
